Bike buyers upgrade to pricier models

SHALLY SETH MOHILE
Mumbai, 2 November

Amid economic uncertainty and the Covid-19 pandemic, motorcycle buyers are responding enthusiastically to pricier variants (125cc and above), giving entry-level models a clear miss. This buying trend bumped up average realisations in the July-September quarter for most two-wheeler companies.

This is even as sales of motorcycles with an engine displacement of 100-110cc — categorised as entry level — remained subdued in the three months till September over the corresponding period last year. Such bikes account for eight of the 10 models sold in the domestic market.

In September, for instance, sales of 125cc models — that include the Hero Glamour, Splendor, Pulsar 125, Victor Star City, among others — grew by a whopping 30 per cent over the same period a year ago to 305,615 units. Bikes with engine displacements between 125cc and 150cc showed similar traction. The overall sales of such bikes zoomed from 67,769 units to 123,525.

"Compared with the entry-level segment, buyers of these models are relatively insulated to the overall eco-nomnic scenario. There is tendency among first-time buyers to directly purchase a 125cc or 150cc model. This has led to brisk growth. It also comes on a low base," said Mitul Shah, head of research at Reliance Securities.

It may become onerous for companies maintain margins, even as commodities and other expenses which were benign in the second quarter start inching up, added Shah.

The trend seen in the motorcycle segment is in sharp contrast to cars, where manufacturers are seeing sales of entry-level models overtaking pricier ones. Take car market leader Maruti Suzuki India, for instance. The maker of the WagonR and Swift saw its average realisation in the September quarter dropped 5 per cent, as buyers downshifted to cheaper entry-level models. It was also led by the absence of diesel cars in its portfolio, which commanded a higher pricing, compared to gasoline models.

Among two-wheeler makers, the trend of a superior product mix was most pronounced for Bajaj Auto.

The Pune-based firm sold a record 340,000 Pulsars (including 125cc and 150cc) in the September quarter, in both the domestic and export markets.

Rakesh Sharma, executive director, Bajaj Auto, said the record sales

In September 2020, sales of 125cc models — that include the Hero Glamour, Splendor, Pulsar 125, Victor Star City, among others — grew by a whopping 30 per cent over the same period a year ago to 305,615 units buffered the company from headwinds such as near collapse in three-wheeler volumes. It was also a quarter of record volumes for the ultra-premium brands such as KTM, Husqvarna, and Dominar. "The Pulsar franchise, along with the ultra-premium brands, helped us clock the highest margins in the domestic motorcycle business in 15-16 quarters," said Sharma. A richer mix of models helped the company return a margin of 18.2 per cent, against 16 per cent a year ago.

Two-wheeler market leader Hero MotoCorp, which has a stronghold in the entry level of the motorcycle market, is now seeing an upturn in the premium segment, company's officials told investors during the earnings call last week.

It's getting "very strong reviews, very strong responses" to the newly launched premium models, including the Xpulse, Xtreme 160R, and Passion Pro, said Naveen Chauthan, head of sales and after-sales at Hero-Moto Corp. It has helped the company increase its share in urban markets in the South, West, East, and the rest of the markets. Hero is looking accelerate its play in the premium segment, with the recently announced partnership with Harley-Davidson.

It's a similar story at Chennai-based TVS Motor, which, too, saw its blended realisation improve to ₹53,000 in the September quarter, from ₹59,000 a year ago, largely because of an improved model mix. The company saw marginal growth during Navratras over the past year.

K N Radhakrishnan, director and chief executive officer at the firm, said growth was led by higher sale of premium models in both urban and rural markets. "There's a higher pull for products which are a bit more premium," he said, referring to the Ntorq, Jupiter, and Apache's sale in rural India, where disposable income has improved in the recent past.

We're committed to FGD biz, says GE Power India

This comes amid concerns over its parent's decision to exit coal biz

JYOTI MUKUL
New Delhi, 2 November

GE Power India sees coal-based power becoming a niche and complex space as the fuel transforms from being a base load to having about 52 per cent share in the overall electricity market by 2030. It also estimated the size of the flue gas desulphurisation (FGD) business at 143 Gw in three to five years.

This statement comes even as the company's stock has taken a beating after its parent announced on September 21 that it would exit new coal business globally. The stock has fallen over 50 per cent to ₹201.8 a share on Monday from ₹444.75 on September 21.

Prashant Jain, managing director, GE Power India, told Business Standard, "We have accelerated our market share from 3 per cent to 5 per cent in the last few years. We are looking at expanding this market to operations and maintenance."

The market for efficiency and emission control is worth $900 million and is centred around parts, repairs, and services of boilers, turbines, and generators.

"We have a ₹7,500-crore order backlog that we will do over the next two to three years. We have this time to prepare a strategy for renewable integration," said Jain.

There are a lot of opportunities in the transformation of operation and maintenance strategy, Jain said, adding that some suppliers might not remain because of the stress in the space, so it would be a niche segment. "Thermal will be a niche play for managing and operating assets. It will be complex with operations and maintenance and that is where GE has technology and partnerships to enable this transition of renewable integration."

In a statement to shareholders, GEPL said while its promoter, General Electric, has announced its intention to exit from new coal power market globally, GEPL continues to see a demand for FGD systems in India. The total FGD market, (including captive power plants) in India is 225 Gw, of which 82 Gw (₹33,000 crore) has been ordered by mostly central public sector utilities and a few state utilities. GEPL has so far been awarded 10 FGD projects, amounting to 13 Gw (representing about 15 per cent market share), which are now in various stages of execution.

The rest that remains to be ordered in the next 3 to 5 years is estimated at 143 Gw. Of this, GEPL pursue opportunities independently for around 66 Gw (₹29,000 crore), consisting of potential IPP and captive power plant customers, on the basis of its existing technology licence agreement.

The remaining potential market of 77 Gw comprises of central and state government customers. An October 25 ICICI Securities report, however, noted that most of the orders from NTPC have been completed and 84 Gw of FGD orders have been finalised.

Some 145 Gw of orders are pending finalisation from state electricity boards and the private sector.

Two-wheeler sales zoom in October

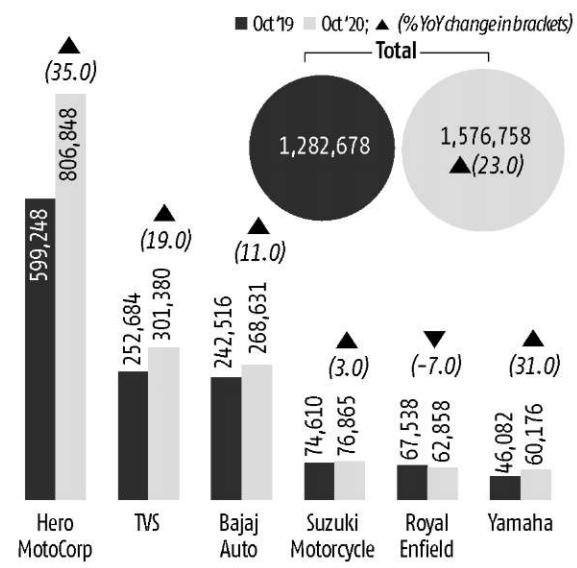

Two-wheeler sales of most firms rose at a brisk pace in October as companies dispatched higher volumes in anticipation of a good festive season that began with Navratra. Cumulative sales of two-wheeler makers (excluding Honda Motorcycle) rose 23 per cent year-on-year.

The volumes, however, are not strictly comparable with last year's as unlike the previous year, when two key festivals — Navratra and Diwali were clubbed in a single month — this year they are staggered over two months.

Two-wheeler dealers said dispatches by manufacturers are outpacing the actual demand on the ground — i.e. the retail demand is much lower. "The sentiments are weak and demand is subdued," said a dealer.

CV sales revive on back of higher economic activity, rural demand

A recovery in economic activity and the infrastructure sector has led to an uptick in sales in the country's commercial vehicles (CV) market in October. Companies are also optimistic about the festive sales.

Tata Motors' domestic commercial vehicle (CV) sales were flat on October 2020 at 26,052 units compared to 25,983 in October 2019. The figure was 12 per cent higher compared to September 2020 (23,245 units).

Medium and heavy commercial vehicles (MHCVs) grew 9 per cent to 5,033 units over September 2020 (4,606 units), and 3 per cent over October 2019 (4,893 units), the first month of growth over the previous year. CV exports in October 2020 were 45 per cent higher than the previous month, while being 20 per cent higher than October 2019. Ashok Leyland's truck sales in October rose by 13 per cent to 3,762 units from 3,340 units in October 2019.

However, bus sales dropped by 90 per cent to 119 units from 1,230 units. This led the M&H-CV segment of the company to report 15 per cent fall in sales to 3,881 units in October 2020 from 4,570 units in the same month of 2019. Light commercial vehicle sales increased by 11 per cent to 5,004 units from 4,509 units.
